

AAPM Pain Medicine Fellowship Excellence Award
Mayo Clinic - Rochester, MN (2015): Testimonial

The field of Pain Medicine continues to expand at a remarkable rate. Options to treat patients with acute or chronic pain seem to expand daily. Insuring that patients receive the best and safest treatments for their conditions will require clinicians that have been trained at the highest level. It will require a deep understanding of the multimodal approach to pain management. The American Academy of Pain Medicine, with its goal to be the voice of Pain Medicine, understands the vital importance that quality Pain Medicine Fellowship training will play in the future of this specialty.

By awarding the Pain Medicine Fellowship Excellence Award AAPM has shown its commitment to the quality training of our Pain Medicine Fellows. The Mayo Clinic was honored to receive this award in 2014 because it recognized our goal to offer the best educational experience possible to our fellows. More importantly, this award serves as a standard that all Pain Medicine Fellowships can strive to obtain.

Bryan Hoelzer M.D.
Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology and Pain Medicine
Mayo Clinic-Rochester, MN