

AAPM Pain Medicine Fellowship Excellence Award
Medical College of Wisconsin Comprehensive Pain Medicine Fellowship
- Milwaukee, WI (2016): Testimonial

The pain fellowship at the Medical College of Wisconsin is focused on creating an environment that supports excellence in innovation, collaboration, and education. Our multidisciplinary program focuses on training future leaders to develop programs and approaches to improve pain care on a large scale. By focusing on quality and supporting individual growth, we hope to educate fellows to enter different clinical environments and successfully build a practices that align with a patient centered focus. To accomplish this goal, we have built a multidisciplinary curriculum with novel approaches to education and incorporated experts and elements from numerous specialties.

We feel honored to have received the AAPM Pain Medicine Fellowship Excellence Award in 2016 as our goals are so closely aligned with AAPM's fundamental missions. This milestone for our program is the next step in working toward creating networks of pain education innovation and collaborative research. We plan to continue working toward improving our program and build on this important benchmark for educational excellence.

Meredith C. B Adams, MD, MS
Assistant Professor of Anesthesiology and Pain Medicine
Director, Medical College of Wisconsin Comprehensive Pain Medicine Fellowship
Milwaukee, WI